Greetings!

First and foremost, I want to personally thank you for taking the time to learn more about the BioCharger and its benefits. In a world of ever-evolving technology and “look-over-here” advertising, we appreciate your dedicated interest in exploring this modality with us.

Just as technology continues to improve, so does our understanding of the physical sciences. With that evolution and newfound knowledge comes the responsibility to not only deliver a cutting-edge product at the time of investment, but also a continuous added value in the form of updated technologies, team and community support, and ongoing education.

We believe in transparency in all aspects of our work, from our conceptualization and manufacturing to the delivery of your BioCharger and subsequent follow-up. We urge you to ask questions. We encourage you to do your own research. We will not hassle you, but we will support you and assist you whenever possible.

We are not your typical sales team promoting a product. We are promoting the BioCharger lifestyle and all of the good vibes that come along with it. We do this all while adhering to our mission; to help others reach their peak potential while raising awareness of the BioCharger platform, and to promote open-mindedness for alternative modalities.

If this sounds like the sort of organization and product you can get behind, please connect with us. Until then, we’re sending you ALL the good energy from us here at BioCharger.

Energetically,

JAMES LAW

CO-FOUNDER

ABOUT THE BIOCHARGER

The unprecedented technology incorporated into the BioCharger represents more than 25 years of research, development, and validation that builds upon more than 80 years of documented research by internationally acclaimed scientists and early energy healing pioneers such as Nikola Tesla, Georges Lakhovsky and Royal Rife. Jim Girard, the inventor of the BioCharger, was privileged to work with a Tesla protégé who educated him in legacy technologies. The BioCharger NG was created by converging these legacy technologies with the cutting edge technologies of today.

The BioCharger NG - often referred to as the "Ultimate Human Recharging Station" - is a subtle-energy platform that simultaneously transmits four types of naturally occurring energies; Light, Voltage, Frequencies and Harmonics, and Pulsed Electromagnetic Fields. These four energy types are vital to our overall wellness and proper cellular health. And we aren't the only people who think so...

In his book "Healing is Voltage", Dr. Jerry Tennant illustrates the importance of cellular voltage. His research has proven that uptake of nutrients and addressing toxicity are two of the three most important characteristics of cellular health. The third is cellular voltage, or what we at BioCharger like to call Cellular Energy.

Tennant has also gone on to explain that all chronic disease has one common characteristic - inadequate cellular voltage, or energy - which typically occurs when you lose the ability to generate new cells that function properly.

So why are we lacking this essential cellular energy? Well - our bodies are self-healing, self-regulating, and self-regenerating - so the framework for optimal cellular health and function is there. The issue is that, as humans, we are constantly shielded from these natural energies. We live inside a shielded environment, work inside a shielded environment, and commute to these two places within a shielded environment. This all contributes to shortages in exposure to nature's vital energies, and subsequently, a decrease in cellular energy. This is most evident to us after a day at the beach, or after a long hike in the woods or an evening of camping - we feel more energized, and overall healthier and happier. This has less to do with 'fresh air & sunshine', and everything to do with the exposure to these four energies. Unfortunately - we can't spend every waking minute outside. The BioCharger helps you to achieve this vital exposure, with minimal disruption to your normal day-to-day activities.

You may ask what makes the BioCharger different from other subtle-energy platforms; and we have an answer for that as well. Not only is the BioCharger the only platform to incorporate all four energies; it's also the only platform that uses cloud infrastructure and regular software updates - making it the only system that actually increases in capability and value over time.

The BioCharger myCloud Recipe library contains hundreds of frequency recipes that are written specifically for different targeted outcomes, with over 1,000 to choose from, and is constantly evolving. A typical session is 10-15 minutes in length, and up to six people can sit comfortably around the BioCharger together. Compared to many other platforms that are invasive, and only suitable for individuals instead of groups, the BioCharger is good for families, workspaces, businesses, and events.

DID YOU KNOW?

There are an average of 100 lightning strikes per second within our Earth's atmosphere - that equals over 8 MILLION strikes per day. The BioCharger simulates the voltage, frequencies and harmonics that are produced by these lightning strikes in just one BioCharger Session.

“The Biocharger is a crucial addition to my at-home “zen den”. In the morning, I’ve been using it to activate my brain, nourish my gut and fight inflammation (I like to use it while jumping on a mini-trampoline in front of my charger), and in the evening, I do another quick session for athletic recovery, de-stressing and sleep onset. My kids and wife began using it too, and generally do a full-body energy ‘sweep’, although they, like me, love to experiment with the hundreds of recipe options on the Biocharger. My friends are now begging me to come over and use it after they experience just a single session and realize what it can do for energy levels, sleep, immunity, mental alertness and a whole lot more. If you haven’t yet tried a Biocharger, you’re missing out on an incredible biohack that relies on dozens of years of research on frequencies and energetics for optimizing human function. I can’t recommend this amazing device highly enough!”

FUN FACT

When we talk about Light as it relates to the BioCharger - we're not talking about the light of a light bulb, or even the light from the sun. We are talking about element gases, being manipulated by magnetic fields to the point of visible light. Sound familiar? It should! This is the same phenomena behind the Northern Lights.

Grounding or earthing is a therapeutic technique that focuses on realigning your electrical energy by reconnecting to the earth. Studies have reported benefits for inflammation, pain, mood, and more.

Grounding can be performed inside or outside, with or without grounding equipment. No matter how you choose to perform grounding, make sure that you're always aware of your surroundings outside and use earthing equipment safely to reduce risks.

Can get out? The PEMFs produced by the BioCharger can help you achieve the same effects.

FREQUENTLY ASKED QUESTIONS

IS THE BIOCHARGER NG A MEDICAL DEVICE?

No, it is a subtle energy revitalization platform that wirelessly projects pulsed electromagnetic energy through a predefined range of frequencies that can include radio, sound, and light.

HOW CAN ELECTRICAL AND MAGNETIC CURRENTS IMPROVE HEALTH AND ENHANCE RECOVERY?

Every cell in the body has a measurable difference in electrical voltage across the outer cell membrane. This voltage is called the trans-membrane potential and it powers proper cell function, regulating the intake of nutrients and elimination of wastes from the cell. Nobel prize winner Otto Von Warburg confirmed that normal, healthy cells have trans-membrane potentials of approximately 70 to 100 millivolts, while fatigued, impaired, and sick cells exhibit progressively lower voltages, which drop to as low as 15 millivolts in cancerous, diseased cells. The BioCharger platform generates a rich electromagnetic energy field that bathes the whole body simultaneously, from head to toe – brain matter to bone marrow. This field replicates a full spectrum of natural frequencies that exist in the terrestrial atmosphere all around us, all the time. Each molecule, cell, or organ of the body has a unique electromagnetic frequency and signature, so if a cell or organ is imbalanced, it's normal frequency is slightly altered and detuned. By broadcasting a rich EM field that inherently includes each cell's normal healthy frequencies, the BioCharger re-introduces the optimum energy blueprint and its optimal resonate frequency.

HOW IS THE BIOCHARGER CONNECTED TO AN INDIVIDUAL? CAN MULTIPLE PEOPLE USE IT SIMULTANEOUSLY?

The BioCharger requires no physical contact and its operation is non-invasive. You simply place yourself in a relaxed position, sitting or standing, approximately 3-5 feet from the unit and let the transmitted energy waves pour through you. You do not have to attach any wires, pads, electrodes, or other devices. The electromagnetic waves, like radio waves, pass through everything within its broadcast range, which is approximately 10 to 15 feet. Typically, having 1-4 users per session is recommended and comfortable, although there really is nothing preventing larger group sessions. However, the power of the field decreases sharply as a function of the distance from the platform.

HOW OFTEN SHOULD YOU USE THE BIOCHARGER?

Many users report beneficial and remarkable results from sitting in front of the BioCharger unit for as little as 30 seconds to 4 minutes, once a day. We have actually observed 10 minutes per session to be generally sufficient to energize individuals. With regards to improving and optimizing athletic performance, clients report that in addition to the above regimen, use of the BioCharger™ NG unit for approximately 15 minutes on the day of an athletic event is very beneficial.

WHAT CAN I EXPECT?

Most people feel very relaxed and tranquil during a session. It's recommended to think of a single intention during a session (5-15 minutes), generally focusing on overcoming whatever challenge you are facing. There is little question that our thoughts and emotions can affect our health, wellness or healing process in a positive or negative way. People who focus on a single intention repeatedly, tell us they feel rejuvenated, more mental clarity, happier and typically sleep better.

ARE THERE ANY NEGATIVE EFFECTS?

Rarely do we hear of any negative effects associated with the use of the BioCharger. One - if any - is that if a user jumps into their BioCharger journey too quickly, too strong - as opposed to "low and slow" - they can have some mild detoxing effects. This is typically a brief headache feeling, and that's it.
